

CELLINI DUAL TIME

TIME HERE AND TIME THERE

The Cellini Dual Time indicates the time at home via centre hands and the time in a second time zone on a gold-rimmed counter at 6 o'clock. A sun or moon symbol – designed to differentiate daytime hours from night-time hours – is shown in the aperture on the sub-dial. The large centre hands, shaped like two-edged swords, always accompany the wearers on their journey. The hour hand can be set independently by successive “jumps” to adjust the local time zone, without disturbing the functioning or the precision of the Rolex Superlative Chronometer movement.

VERSIONS

The Cellini Dual Time is offered in a 39 mm case in either 18 ct white or Everose gold, with a silver, bright brown or bright black dial featuring a “rayons flammés de la gloire” guilloché motif.

It is fitted on an alligator leather strap, in brown or black, with an 18 ct white or Everose gold buckle to match the gold of the case.
